

Educational Objectives

Our educational objectives will be divided into five main themes:

- Teaching
- The safety and emotional health of young people
- Fighting against ethnocentric reflexes and cultural antagonisms
- The open-mindedness and curiosity of young people
- Collaboration between teaching and animation teams

Teaching, as previously explained, will develop the four skills related to the levels of the CEFR (Common European Framework of Reference for Languages) and will contribute to the joy of learning.

Then, it will reassure young people that learning French as a language is a good choice.

And finally, thanks to the class distribution according to the right level, it will reconcile with the French language, those young people encountering more difficulties in their learning.

The safety and emotional and physical health of young people will be ensured by daily monitoring going out permissions and lateness or absences from classes. A close relationship will be established between young people and the supervising staff. Everyone will be attentive to the young people and will share their observations with other stakeholders.

Any behavior likely to affect the smooth running of the stay will be reported by the teacher or facilitators to management, and disciplinary measures may be taken.

Educational Objectives

Working against ethnocentric reflexes and cultural antagonisms will be another vocation of the campus by ensuring a close relationship between the supervising staff and the young people, as well as studying in international groups to address differences, resolve conflicts, and encourage the daily practice of French.

Furthermore, the open-mindedness and curiosity of students will be encouraged by discovering French heritage, self-animation by the young people, active participation in the preparation of animations, new sports or cultural practices, and the discovery of french literary heritage, songs, and cinema.

The teaching and animation teams will work closely together in the creation of themed weeks, preparation for excursions, and shows
